Paul Lockhart, Moving Portland, Acrylic on canvas, 30x40 inches

Paul retired in 2014 after working 30 years in maintenance/landscaping, mainly at Legacy Emanuel Hospital. He uses acrylic paints and oil pastels to create a bold impressionistic style in his paintings. He enjoys going on plein air outings, capturing urban and natural landscapes on a variety of pastel papers. His acrylic paintings are created in a controlled environment in his small basement studio. His art portrays interests in architecture, landscapes, and animals.

Mel Townsend, Railroad Bridge, Oil on Canvas, 40x60 inches

Mel Townsend is an expressionist painter born and raised in Portland, OR. She Graduated from the University of Oregon with a BFA in drawing and painting, and continues to explore and express the world around her. Her work is bold in color and line work, pulling from the roots of the German expressionist painters and the Bay area figurative artists. Her work has an urban feel that began while she was in Washington, DC and this energy continues in her street scenes, bridges and figurative art. She has received many awards and scholarships in painting and her work is collected locally, nationally and internationally. She is an exhibiting artist at the Portland Art Museum Rental Sales Gallery. She also owns and operates Mel's Frame Shop & Gallery where she exhibits her work and showcases other local artists. She has been framing and creating art for over 30 years.
